MOOSE LODGE IS RECHRISTENED AS PHOENIX ORDER

The Modern Order of Phoenix is the name which has been adopted by the Honolulu lodge of Moose—that was. The formal adoption of the new name took place at a special meeting held last evening in the lodge rooms of the organization. A great deal of enthusiasm has been aroused, and the members feel certain that in their new order they have the nucleus of a great national organization.

With the adoption of the organization, committees were appointed to have emblems designed and stationery printed. The committee which was appointed last week to draft a constitution and by-laws announced last night that it will make its report at the regular meeting on Friday evening. It is anticipated that these reports will be adopted at that time, and that the entire membership will subscribe them as charter members of the original lodge of the new order, and will take the oath which has been prescribed.

The committee which is working on the constitution consists of the following gentlemen: J. J. Sullivan, J. C. Cohen, G. S. Leithead, Chas. Hustace, Jr., Julius W. Asch, Harry Whitcomb, A. T. Henderson.

C. H. Brown, district deputy of the grand dictator of the Loyal Order of Moose of America, for Hawaii, departed this morning by the Matsushima for San Francisco, where it is understood that he will make a report in person to the grand lodge officers regarding the troubles which led to the disruption of the local Moose lodge.

"We believe it entirely possible to make the Modern Order of Phoenix a strong national organization," stated an enthusiastic promoter of the project, this morning. "The biggest order in the United States today started with a good deal less promise. I believe we shall be able to draw 20 or 30 Moose lodges in different parts of the mainland which are already disgusted with the manner in which the Moose order has been handled—or rather mismanaged by the group that has gotten into control of the national organization. In any event we are sure of 14 or 15 branch lodges right here in the islands. The fact that the Phoenix will limit its membership only by standards of manhood and personal worth, and not by race, color, or creed, is certain to make it exceedingly strong in Hawaii. The beneficiary features—sick and funeral benefits—similar to those of the old Moose lodge, will also make the new lodge popular."

The Phoenix disclaim any intention of uniting with the Benevolent Order of Deer, the new national order, which is to be launched here upon the arrival of an organizer from the Coast in a few weeks. Most of the members oppose the idea, although it is certain that others have been quietly endeavoring to bring this about.

WITHIN THE LAW FIRST OFFERING OF THE PLAYERS

A season of high-class productions will soon begin at the Bijou theater with George Webb, presenting "The Players" in the very latest and eastern success. Local theater goes will be afforded an opportunity to witness Florence Oakley in Bayard Veller's absorbing new American play, "Within the Law," which is a dramatic sensation of New York and London, and positively the first time release for stock at a tremendous royalty of $200 a performance, when Mr. Webb will present this favorite star in this exciting drama of genuine human interest. "Within the Law," which is credited with having made a more lasting impression than any stage offering of recent years, is one of these rare plays of such tremendous power and universal appeal that it interests alike all classes, the rich and the poor, the high and the low, and as the critic wrote, "has an audience wherever there is a human heart."

Mary Turner, the heroine, portrayed by Miss Oakley, is an attractive young woman who, early in her career as a poor working girl, is falsely accused of theft of goods from the large dry goods emporium in which she is employed. She vehemently declares her innocence, but the greedy-obsessed hypocrite who employs her, and the judge before whom she is tried, insist that she should be made to stand as an example for all other shop girls similarly tempted. She, therefore, is sentenced to serve three years in prison. When released, she seeks honorable employment. During her incarceration she has made use of the prison library and has become educated. She seeks and finds many positions, but in each instance she is "hounded" by the police, until, finally, she announces that so long as society refuses to be satisfied with the debt she has paid for a crime she did not commit, and refuses to accept her as anything but a thief, a thief she will be—but she will do her thing. "Within the Law." She will, in her own original way, play the game of the millionaire lawbreakers who literally break the law under the law's protection. Matching her wit and courage against the brutality of the police, she develops into a woman of ingenuity and daring who preys upon society at will and defies punishment by employment of the intricacies of the law to safeguard her questionable ventures. She also avenges herself upon the canting hypocrite who sent her to prison when she was innocent, almost breaking her heart, through his son and heir, whom she lures into marriage. The personnel of the company assures the strongest aggregation ever seen here, including Florence Oakley, Inez Ragen, Olga Grey, Marie Baker, Maxie Mitchell, George Webb, Gay Hittner, Frank Bonner, George Berrill, Ray Pryor, Jack Bolgrave and others.

The Phoenix disclaim any intention of uniting with the Benevolent Order of Deer, the new national order, which is to be launched here upon the arrival of an organizer from the Coast in a few weeks. Most of the members oppose the idea, although it is certain that others have been quietly endeavoring to bring this about.

FATHERS & SONS BANQUET WILL BE AD CLUB STYLE

That this year's Father and Son banquet will be handled a la Ad Club is now an assured fact. W. R. Farrington, president of that live organization, was chosen toastmaster yesterday by the Y. M. C. A. committee of fathers having the banquet in charge.

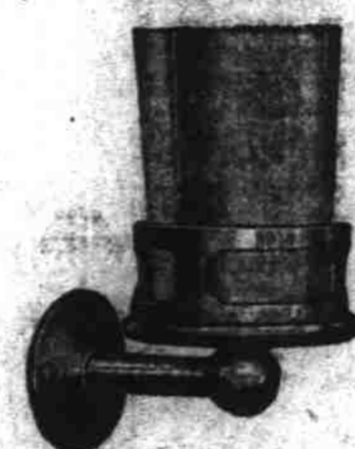

The boys who attend this year will have their eyes opened as to how human and full of "pep" their dads really are. The fathers want to have a jolly evening with their sons and are working hard to get up a program "that will be a corker," as one of the fathers expressed it. A father and his son should be the best two chums on earth. Occasions like this Father and Son banquet do much to bring about this ideal relationship.

The banquet will be held at the Y. M. C. A. Friday night, April 17. It is not limited to members and all the older boys who wish to attend with their fathers, should hand their names to Charles F. Loomis, boys' work secretary, at once.
